

Kevin Kronau '60

Kevin is a 1960 graduate of Averill Park High School. He then attended the State University of New York College at Oswego and received a Bachelor of Science degree, certifying him to teach K-12 in public education. Kevin taught industrial arts at Averill Park from 1964 until 1980. He also coached boys junior varsity basketball and boys golf. During this time, he earned his master's degree from the State University of

New York at Albany. Kevin resides in Poestenkill with his wife of 60 years, Dale. They have four children (Deb, Kim, Kevin (Chip) and Mike), seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

At Averill Park Kevin was a three-sport athlete. He lettered in baseball and football for four years and basketball for two years. Kevin was part of teams that won Central Hudson Valley League championships once in baseball and twice in football. He was named Most Outstanding Athlete for the Class of 1960. As a baseball player Kevin pitched several no-hitters and went on to pitch in college where he lost only one game over a three-year period. At Oswego he was named the MVP of the baseball team in 1964. After college, Kevin pitched semi-pro with Pittsburgh Pirates affiliation.

After leaving teaching in 1980, Kevin became a successful builder, developer and realtor in residential construction. He built five different communities in Rensselaer County and was President and CEO of The Kronau Group. His company also performed gratis construction projects for several local baseball fields.
